

Young Judaea 2018 Alumni Impact Study Highlights

Highlights from the 2018 Young Judaea Alumni Impact Study

Executive Summary

For nearly 110 years, Young Judaea has been America's leading Zionist youth movement. The 2018 Alumni Study provides strong inferential evidence that, over the years, Young Judaea has been, and continues to be, influential in producing alumni who are highly engaged in Jewish life and Israel.

1,937 alumni completed the survey. The following is based on the US sub-sample (1,599), setting aside the many Young Judaeans who have made Aliyah to Israel, as well as the few others living outside the US. The study found:

90% of those married have a Jewish spouse

95% consider "love of Israel" to be essential or important in their lives

93% attended a Passover seder in the past year

42% of those with school-age children have sent them to Jewish day schools

From the data gathered, we can infer that Young Judaea programming has been critical to building a committed and connected core of Jews in North America and Israel, and may hold instructive lessons for American Judaism at large.

Young Judaea - The Young Alumni (25-39)

On almost every indicator, when compared to "adjusted" (highly-affiliated Conservative & Reform Jewish) respondents to the 2013 Pew Portrait of Jewish Americans Study, as well as to all American Jewish respondents to the Pew Study, Young Judaea young adult alumni score significantly higher.

74% of young adult YJ alumni say being Jewish is very important, compared to 47% of comparable Pew respondents and 36% of general Pew respondents of the same age

92% of young adult YJ alumni are emotionally (very or somewhat) attached to Israel, compared to 81% of comparable Pew respondents and 61% of general Pew respondents of the same age

● Somewhat or Very Emotionally Attached to Israel

59% of young adult YJ alumni say most of their close friends are Jewish, compared to 35% of comparable Pew respondents and 24% of general Pew respondents of the same age

Young Judaea Alumni - Then and Now: 2017 compared to 1998

With the exception of synagogue and Jewish organizational membership, differences between the respondents in the 1998 survey and 2017 survey were not substantively significant, and particularly impressive given the many changes in the American Jewish community in the last 20 years.
